UNITED NATIONS NATIONS UNIES

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

MESSAGE TO THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE Atlanta, 20-22 November 2008

You are meeting at a crucial time for international cooperation. We can all sense the perils of our current passage. We face a global financial crisis and a global energy crisis. Trade talks have collapsed, yet again. The price of rice – the food staple that feeds half the world's population – has more than doubled in the past year. We have seen new outbreaks of war and violence. And many countries are not on track to reach the Millennium Development Goals by the target date of 2015.

The threats of the 21st century spare no one. Nations can no longer protect their interests, or advance the well-being of their people, without the partnership of the rest. Yet there is a danger of losing sight of this new reality. I worry that nations will look inward rather than towards a shared future, and that we will see a retreat from the common progress we have made. Never have global leadership and partnership been more important.

Partnership is the way of the future. Just look at recent advances on malaria, which have brought us within range of containing a disease that kills a child every 30 seconds. We are doing this through better planning, top-notch science and technology, and unified global management. What we are doing with malaria we must do with the other Millennium Development Goals. Models like these can also help tackle climate change, which ever more clearly threatens our planet and is the defining issue of our era.

The challenges we face are increasingly those of collaboration rather than confrontation. The United Nations is uniquely placed to mobilize the collective effort that is needed for success. You can count on me to do my part, and I will count on you to do yours. We are not fated to watch our world disintegrate. Each of these challenges is the product of human choices, of mistaken priorities, of inadequate institutions and laws. Each can be resolved through the innovative ideas and fresh energies that will emanate from your generation of problem solvers. Together, we can set the stage for a new era of global prosperity, more widely and equitably shared. In that spirit, I wish you a most stimulating conference.

Welcome from the Secretary-General

November 20, 2008

Greetings Delegates and Faculty,

Welcome to the 19th session of the Southern Regional Model United Nations. Our staff has worked very hard this year to prepare a stimulating weekend of debate on some of the most pertinent issues facing our world. You will discuss topics ranging from the effects of conflict on sustainable development to the impact of climate change on food security. The topic of sustainable development is multi-faceted, and the solutions to these problems are not simple, but through research, debate, and negotiation, you will leave the conference as a more informed citizen of the world.

If this is your first Model United Nations conference, I am so glad that you will have this experience with us. Not only will our staff be ready to guide you in improving your skills, you will also get to learn from some of the most experienced Model UN programs in the country who attend our conference yearly. If you are a returning delegate, welcome back. The continuing excellence of this conference is due partially to the outstanding Model United Nations programs that participate, and we're glad that you've chosen to continue your Model UN education with us.

Congratulations on your excellent preparations for the conference. We were all impressed by the high caliber of research that you have conducted in preparing your position papers, and hope this weekend will both enhance your knowledge and motivate you to use your skills for the betterment of the world.

Sincerely,
Erika Pfeiler
Secretary-General

Distinguished Guest Speaker

Gordon Streeb is currently Visiting Professor of Economics at Emory University having retired from The Carter Center at the end of August 2004 where he had been Associate Executive Director for Peace Programs. Ambassador Streeb joined the Center in March 1994 as a diplomat-in-residence near the end of a 30 year career in the U.S. Foreign Service, a professional path that included assignments in West Berlin, Mexico, Geneva, deputy chief of mission in New Delhi, culminating in his appointment as ambassador to Zambia from 1990-1993. His Washington assignments included executive assistant to the Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs and Deputy Assistant Secretary for International Economic and Social Affairs in the Bureau International Organization Affairs.

An economist by training, Ambassador Streeb initially directed the Center's Global Development Initiative, an innovative project to assist emerging democracies in creating sustainable development plans. As Associate Executive Director for the Peace Program area of The Center, Ambassador Streeb's duties include managerial oversight for projects to prevent and resolve conflict within nations, promote and protect human rights, observe elections in emerging democracies, and build the economic and social foundations necessary to sustain peace and strengthen democracy.

Ambassador Streeb received bachelors degrees in chemical engineering and business administration from the University of Colorado and a Ph. D. in economics from the University of Minnesota.

The History of SRMUN

The Southern Regional Model United Nations (SRMUN) conference was inaugurated in 1990 in Greenville, South Carolina, with the intention of being an exemplary learning experience for undergraduate college students interested in pursuing issues of international concern. The first conference attracted delegations from 10 schools and a total of about 100 student participants. SRMUN's first Secretary General, Julie Pauling, was instrumental in organizing the conference. As a student member of the Board of Directors of the National Model United Nations (NMUN) organization during 1990 - 1992, she was convinced that establishing a regional "spin-off" would achieve two useful goals: first, schools that sent delegations to the spring NMUN conference would be able to gain some experience at a fall conference that would be smaller and less overwhelming to newer participants and, second, schools in the southeastern part of the country financially unable to send delegations to NMUN would still have an opportunity to benefit from a Model United Nations experience.

The conference site was moved to Atlanta in 1991 in order to have a location that was more central and an area that was more attractive to interested schools. The tactic worked successfully in very little time. Around 20 schools and 250 students participated in the second annual conference. Conference participation over the next several years gradually increased to over 400. As SRMUN entered its second decade of activity in 2000 delegate numbers exceeded 500 participants from approximately three dozen campuses. Most of the schools involved in SRMUN are located in the southeastern United States, but several colleges from outside the region also furnish delegations. It is particularly gratifying to observe the same schools returning year after year. In addition, each year's conference sees delegations appear from schools sending students for the first time. A significant number of schools are also able to provide more than one delegation. Thus, the number of countries represented at recent conferences runs typically well over 60.

During its early years (1990 – 1993) the administration of the SRMUN conference was the responsibility of NMUN's Board of Directors. The NMUN Board was generous with its financial support to get SRMUN off the ground. SRMUN did not have its own independent Board until 1993. In addition, NMUN advanced the funding to SRMUN that was required to establish the conference in the amount of a $10,000 loan. The rapid growth of the newly created conference enabled SRMUN to pay off the loan by 1995. By that time SRMUN's independent Board of Directors was fully established and became the ultimate authority for the conference's professionalism. SRMUN at this point became a fully sovereign conference independent of and separate from NMUN and equipped with its own governing structure.

The structure of SRMUN over the years has revealed remarkable resiliency in terms of how it dealt with what could only be referred to as growing pains. Atlanta was universally accepted as a natural physical location for the conference. It did become necessary to change hotel conference sites on a few occasions. However, as the conference grew in the number of attendees, first tier hotels developed substantial interest in hosting the event. From its inception, SRMUN has been held during the last half of November, normally the week before the Thanksgiving holiday. This schedule enables delegates the greater part of the fall semester to prepare for the conference and also allow them to enjoy a brief recess before the final examination season commences. The conference itself traditionally runs from late Thursday afternoon to Saturday evening.

SRMUN is a successful conference because of the loyalty and professionalism of its staff, delegates, faculty advisors, and supporters. There is no doubt that the original intention of the founders to make SRMUN a memorable learning experience has been and continues to be fulfilled. The participants are always eager, energetic, and devoted to their task.

SRMUN is sponsored by an educational non-profit corporation, the Southern Regional Model United Nations, Inc. The Board of Directors for SRMUN, Inc. is comprised of a five-member panel (three students and two faculty advisors) who are responsible for the overall state of the conference from year to year. Board members are responsible for meeting three or more times a year to conduct conference business. The Board has one-year and two-year student positions that are elected by the head delegates. Any student who has attended SRMUN for a minimum of two years is eligible to run for a student Board position. There are two faculty positions with staggered two-year terms. The faculty members attending SRMUN elect one faculty position during their meeting at the conference. The faculty member should be a person planning to attend the SRMUN conference during the next two years.

Each year, the Board will appoint people to Ex-Officio positions that serve in an advisory capacity without voting powers. The Secretary-General of the previous year is granted an Ex-Officio position on the Board. Finally, there are several hired positions that manage various corporate affairs for SRMUN; members holding these positions do not have voting rights.

SRMUN Policies

Delegate Code of Conduct

Delegates are expected to:

Remain in character by consistently advocating the interests and representing the policies of the country assigned. To be "in character" also entails displaying respect for the opinions and ideals of fellow delegates, even if these opinions and ideals conflict with a given delegate's own country's priorities.

Collaborate with fellow delegates where possible.

Conduct themselves in a courteous and professional manner at all times.

Refrain from consumption of alcohol and other drugs in committee sessions. [Note: Any issues related to illicit drugs will be immediately directed to the attention of Atlanta authorities.]

Delegates who disrupt committee sessions or create problems in the hotel may be barred from further participation in the conference.

Dress Code

Standard delegate attire for the conference is business jacket, slacks (or skirts for women), dress shirt (with tie for men) and dress shoes.

Shirts that expose excessive bare skin on the chest, stomach or are otherwise revealing are inappropriate.

Clothes that reveal undergarments are inappropriate.

Men's facial hair should be shaved or trimmed neatly.

Dress sweaters for men are generally considered too casual, unless a tie is worn underneath.

Shorts, ball caps, jeans, sneakers, sandals and sunglasses are also forbidden.

It is inappropriate for delegates to display any national symbols such as flags, pins, crests, etc. on their person during committee sessions. UN symbols are acceptable.

Western business dress is preferred. Cultural dress is only permitted for international delegates in whose native countries professional business dress includes traditional cultural dress. These delegates are the only individuals to whom this applies. Any delegate attempting to use cultural costume to portray a "character" will be asked to leave the committee chamber and change into clothing that is more appropriate. The SRMUN conference will not tolerate any delegate's attempt to mock traditional cultural attire or abuse it as costume.

All clothing must adhere to guidelines that portray professionalism and modesty. If a delegate's attire is deemed inappropriate by the SRMUN staff the delegate will be asked to leave the session and return with appropriate attire.

Sexual Harrasment Discrimination Policy

It is the intention of the Southern Regional Model United Nations Conference (SRMUN) that the environment of the SRMUN conference best achieves our educational goals. The SRMUN Executive Staff and Board of Directors will not tolerate any instances of discrimination based on race, color, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, religion, age or medical condition.

If any delegate, staff or faculty member believes they have encountered discrimination and/or harassment which results in a hostile working environment or disparate treatment, they must bring it to the attention of the Secretary-General of the conference. In the event that this is not possible, they must bring it to the attention of the President of the SRMUN Board.

The Secretary-General and a member or members of the SRMUN Board, as designated by the SRMUN Board, must investigate the merits of the allegations, interviewing all parties involved, and submitting a written report to the rest of the Board. Based on the investigation's findings, the Secretary-General, in conjunction with the Board of Directors, may:

Take no action;

Issue a verbal reprimand;

Remove an involved individual from the conference;

Implement any other action that the Board deems appropriate.

Conference Services Policies

A maximum of two delegates will be allowed in Delegate Services to work on each resolution at any one time. Delegates are expected to write their resolutions outside of the lab, and bring them in for typing or revision.

[NOTE: Delegates are generally seated on a first come, first serve basis. Delegates from committees not already working at a computer in the lab will be given preference when the lab is full. The USG for Conference Services reserves the authority to grant an earlier place in line to a delegate.]

There will be NO FOOD OR BEVERAGES allowed in Conference Services.

Internet resources are only for research use. Delegates will not be permitted to check their e-mail.

Once a delegate has finished typing, s/he should print the resolution and save the resolution according to the posted guidelines.

Photocopies will be made for the delegates at a charge of $.10 per copy. This cost is used to defray the rental and repair costs for copiers at SRMUN. Working papers and resolutions approved by the Director of the committee will be copied free of charge. Application printing is also free of charge.

Delegates may also purchase replacement badges and placards in Conference Services. Replacement badges will cost $1.00 and replacement placards will cost $5.00.

Application Information

SRMUN applications are available online at www.srmun.org. Delegates are permitted to use the computers in Conference Services to complete their applications. Printing of applications is free of charge.

Chair/Rapporteur Applications

Chairs and rapporteurs play a vital role in the workings of SRMUN by assisting the Director and AD with committee functions, such as facilitating debate, taking attendance, monitoring the speakers' list, and editing working papers. All delegates are encouraged to apply for a chair or rapporteur position by first filling out the application and then participating in an interview conducted by SRMUN staff members. In the interview, delegates will be expected to demonstrate their knowledge of SRMUN rules of procedure, as well as their ability to lead a committee debate.

Committee Staff Applications

The substantive staff of SRMUN remains the backbone of the conference. Staff is generally hired in late January to early February. In conjunction with the Directors-General, both Directors and Assistant Directors will select committee topics and compose topic outlines, summaries, background guides and updates. The writing process typically begins in March and continues throughout the summer, growing more increasingly more intensive. Directors must attend a staff-training weekend usually scheduled in July. In the early fall, committee staff composes updates and evaluates position papers. At the conference Directors and Assistant Directors serve as the chief substantive officers of their committees, facilitating the learning process obtain at SRMUN. Although previous Chair or Rapporteur experience is preferred, it is not required. This is a full year commitment. Please carefully consider this before applying for SRMUN Staff.

Executive Staff Applications

The responsibilities of the SRMUN executive staff are substantial but rewarding. The Director General and Deputy Director General are responsible for the substantive workings of the conference, including hiring and motivating committee staff, deciding committee topics, and editing of background guides and updates. The Secretary General is responsible for the business aspects of the conference, including school recruitment and correspondence. Previous SRMUN staff experience is highly preferred for these positions, but is not required. These positions require an extensive, full-year commitment. Consider this carefully before applying.
